

Business award presented

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce honored their 1995 Small Business of the Year last Wednesday, when Victor Carrier of Canada Post attended the regular meeting to present the award to Larry Demchuk of Elk Point Insurance and Realty.

Demchuk, a onetime president of the Chamber, said he was happy to accept the award on behalf of the firm, which has grown with Elk Point since it was first opened in 1956.

SMALL BUSINESS WEEK AWARD - was presented by Victor Carrier (right) of Canada Post to Elk Point Insurance and Realty representative Larry Demchuk at last week's Chamber meeting.

Pan Canadian planning a busy year

Pan Canadian Petroleum representatives told those attending last week's Open House presentations at Heinsburg Community Club and King George Hall that they are planning to drill just over 200 new wells in the coming year, many of them in the Frog Lake area.

Jack Livingston, who represents the Exploration division, said that land acquisition activity "has been staggering in the past 18 months," with over 100 sections of new acquisition. "It's going to be a very busy area."

Pan Canadian is in partnership with Elan Energy on additional land, and will be meeting with them to discuss even more drilling activity, Livingston said.

He recalled Dennis Chorney's remark at last year's open house that Pan Canadian planned to stay in the area for some time, and said that the area is still "very key in our plans. We will be constantly drilling wells and acquiring land in the next few years."

Livingston pointed to a map covered with yellow and pink squares, the latter being the new acquisitions, mostly of crown land. The yellow squares are designated as "fee lands," which were the lands set aside for the Canadian Pacific Railway at the time of land settlement. "This heritage is our biggest asset. We don't pay as much royalty on this as on the crown land." CP is a major shareholder in Pan Canadian.

One colorful display showed the various kinds of geological exploration, including seismic studies, well logs and drill cores, which are done to determine the presence of oil far beneath the earth's surface. Livingston said this display "gives people a chance to see what processes are involved" in exploration, and feels it would be of interest to young people seeking careers. "Not a lot of people are going into geology and geophysics," he noted, however there are many jobs available in that field.

Other displays included aerial maps of the area with an overlay showing land locations, wellsites and pipelines, photos and diagrams showing the design, construction and drilling of slant wells on various configurations of site pads, and a stratigraphic chart outlining the age of the various rock formations at locations across Canada and the northern USA. The oil-bearing formations in this area are in Sparky, General Petroleum, Lloydminster and Cummings zones, all of which date back to the Early Cretaceous period, 98 to 144 million years ago. Also on display was a map of the routes used by oil and water tankers in the area, and a diagram showing advanced oil recovery techniques and how they work.

OIL INDUSTRY MOVES UP TOWN - We're not sure if there is oil under downtown Elk Point, but service rigs such as this, which was undergoing maintenance along Railway Ave. last week, are sure to keep busy next year, with many new wells planned for the area.

Council approves ambulance contract

Elk Point Town Council approved a revised contract for ambulance service to December 31, 1996 when they met November 14.

The new one-year contract lowers the monthly minimum figure over which a subsidy will be paid by $1000, to $6500 per month, and raises the maximum figure over which no subsidy is required, by $1000 to $12,500. This means that any revenue earned by the ambulance service in excess of $6500 will be deducted from the monthly subsidy allowance of $6000, and at $12,500 in revenue, the subsidy would be cancelled for that month. It is not anticipated that any increase in the amount set aside in the Town's budget for ambulance subsidy will be needed, as only a small portion of the 1995 budget sum has actually been spent.

Council feels that the increased subsidy would allow the ambulance service to set aside funds toward replacement of the ambulance when that becomes necessary.

A three year contract had originally been proposed, but the Town declined to enter into a long term agreement because of the uncertainty surrounding provincial government plans regarding ambulance service.

Council was told that the County of St. Paul has also approved the contract.

Other business coming before the November meeting of Council included giving an extension on the start time for construction to a new business wanting to locate in the industrial subdivision, tabling the choice of engineers for the sewage lagoon until further information is received, and agreeing to the purchase of a backup furnace for the water treatment plant.

Water line replacement for 49th Street is to be considered in the preparations for the 1996 budget.

Council agreed to a recommendation from the Public Works Committee to donate a 300 by 250 foot area adjacent to the Peter Fidler statue for the relocation of the Tourist Information Centre, with ample room for parking.

All three readings were given to the Town's new Procedures Bylaw.

The Town received no response to the advertising for three members at large for the Subdivision Development Appeal Board. Anyone interested in serving the community in that capacity could call the Town Office for details.

Council's next regular meeting will be on December 11 at 7 p.m.

Frog Lake marks Drug Awareness Week

Frog Lake First Nation started off their observance of Drug Awareness Week, November 20 to 24, with a Sober Walk on Monday which went from the Frog Lake Store to the Band Office and was followed by a flag raising ceremony, speakers and lunch. A Community Sweat was scheduled for this morning.

A series of A.A. meetings started Monday evening at the Aftercare facility and will continue at 7 p.m. tonight at Counselling Services and Thursday at 5 p.m. at the Band Hall. Thursday's meeting will be followed by guest speakers, a supper, candlelight countdown and dance, while on Friday, the Azimuth Theatre group will present a play at the Frog Lake School.

Chamber news

The Chamber has received confirmation from Walter daSilva, who has agreed to be the guest speaker at the Chamber's Annual Meeting on February 6.

A request to help with funding for the FCSS Welcome Package was approved by the Chamber, as it was felt this is very good promotion for local businesses. The funding will go toward costs of copying material and distributing the information to new residents.

The subcommittee looking into a new site for the Tourist Information Centre has gotten approval from Town Council to use an area adjacent to the Peter Fidler statue. However, details such as moving the booth and paying hookup costs for power and telephone will have to be looked into before a decision on moving the TIC can be made.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS OF AGT LIMITED

AGT Limited has filed an application with the Canadian Radio-television Telecommunications Commission (CRTC), for changes to its rates and tariffs, including price increases for local services. The Company has proposed that an interim increase become effective on February 1, 1996.

AGT Limited also proposes that the implementation of the $2.00 per line per month local rate increase ordered by the CRTC in its October 31, 1995 Rate Rebalancing Decision be postponed from January 1, 1996 to February 1, 1996. Mandated long distance rate reductions stipulated in the CRTC decision of October 31, 1995, will be implemented January 1, 1996.

In another decision, the CRTC advised it will review AGT's three proposed residential local access options in a proceeding next year. AGT will pursue its commitment to offer customers choice in local telephone service in this proceeding. In light of the CRTC's decision to defer consideration of the proposed residential local access options, AGT will not be seeking to implement these options at this time, as originally intended and communicated to all Albertans.

AGT's rates have traditionally been among the lowest in Canada. To keep local rates low, AGT has cut costs and improved efficiency. AGT continues these cost cutting measures. AGT has also introduced new services to generate additional revenues. However, despite these efforts, AGT will experience a revenue shortfall in 1996. These revenues are necessary to ensure AGT continues to provide quality service to customers and meet its legal obligation to provide universal service without impairing its financial integrity.

Q. BRIEFLY, WHAT IS THE APPLICATION ALL ABOUT?

A. If approved, the interim rate changes proposed in the application will generate net additional revenues of about $62.4 Million in 1996.

Q. HOW WOULD MY RATES BE AFFECTED BY THE APPLICATION?

A. Effective February 1, 1996, AGT proposes increases in rates as follows:

Residential customers will see an increase ranging from $4.00 to $6.00 per month for each telephone line. Business customers with one or two lines will see increases ranging from $2.00 to $6.00 per telephone line per month depending on the rate group of your community. Business customers with more than two lines will see increases ranging from $2.00 to $9.00 per telephone line per month depending on the rate group and total number of lines in each business location (Please see Chart A).

These proposed increases are in addition to the $2.00 per line per month increase ordered by the CRTC in its October 31, 1995 Rate Rebalancing Decision. Residential and business customers in communities with Extended Flat Rate Calling (EFRC) will see increases of up to $1.50 per month.

Q. WHY IS THE COMPANY ASKING FOR A RATE INCREASE NOW?

A. The company's improved productivity, cost cutting measures and new sources of revenue will not be enough to avoid a serious shortfall in revenues in 1996. The only option available to AGT to generate the needed revenues is through these rate increases. The proposed rate increases are necessary to enable AGT to maintain its financial integrity while delivering service at rates that still represent excellent value for the service provided.

Q. WHERE CAN I SEE A COPY OF THE APPLICATION?

A. The Request for Interim Increase in Rates and supporting evidence are available for public inspection during normal business hours at AGT's offices located at:

Calgary
Bill Payment Centre
AGT Tower
411 - 1 Street S.E.
Calgary, Alberta T2G 4Y5

Edmonton
Security Desk, Main Floor
AGT Tower
10020 - 100 Street

AGT's applications may also be inspected at the offices of the CRTC:
Les Terrasses de la Chaudière 800 Burrard Street
1 Promenade du Portage Suite 1380, Box 1300
2nd Floor, Room 202-B Vancouver, British Columbia
Central Building
Hull, Québec

Q. HOW CAN I COMMENT ON THE APPLICATION?

A. You may express your comments:

1) BY SENDING A LETTER TO THE COMMISSION

If you have a comment or matter that you feel the Commission should take into account in reviewing the application, including such matters as quality of service, availability of service, billing practices, or any other matter relating to the Company's operations, you can write directly to the Commission. Your letter should clearly state your views and should include any relevant information that may be useful in explaining or supporting those views. Send your letter so it will be received by December 11, 1995 to:

Mr. Allan J. Darling
Secretary General
Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission
Ottawa, Ontario

Edmonton, Alberta T5J 0N5

Q. WHOM MAY I CONTACT FOR FURTHER INFORMATION?

A. AGT has set up a special toll-free number to answer any questions you may have about this application. For example, if you want to know how the proposed rate changes will affect your bill, call one of our specialists at 1-800-341-1171 between 7:30 a.m. and midnight, every day (including holidays). Our specialists will be pleased to assist you.

For additional information on the application or the procedure to be followed, please contact AGT at the above listed toll-free 800 number or the CRTC in Hull, Quebec at (819) 997-1027, or in Vancouver, British Columbia at (604) 666-2111. To find out the rights and obligations of parties to a proceeding, please read the CRTC Telecommunications Rules of Procedure. Stopping abuse before it starts

When Tom was growing up, there was no doubt that his father was the boss in his family. Tom's mother devoted her life to meeting her husband's needs; sometimes at the expense of the children. There was never any physical violence. There was no need. One look or a word from Dad was all that was needed to maintain order.

When Tom got married, he assumed his wife would always let him make the decisions, too. When she insisted on doing things her way occasionally, he became very angry and was puzzled when she wouldn't give in. When angry words did not change her mind, he resorted to grabbing her roughly and then slapping her. This made him feel extremely inadequate and very confused. He was caught between two conflicting beliefs. On the one hand, he believed that he should be in charge of decisions in the family, and on the other hand, that he should not be hitting anyone. His need to see himself in charge proved to have the most power and his violence escalated as he felt more and more inadequate.

Families provide the settings where abuse takes place. The way they are organized, who is supposed to do what, the way people relate to each other, the resources they have at their disposal, their values, goals and attitudes will all influence whether family members will experience nurturing or abusive relationships.

There are two types of families, in particular, that have characteristics that seem to contribute to abuse. They are sometimes referred to as "closed-types" and "random-types."

Closed-type families are relatively insulated from outside influences. Their power structures are very rigid, with certain designated persons clearly in charge. Those persons decide what behaviors are appropriate, and therefore required of family members. They are responsible for making and enforcing all family rules. Abuse occurs when the persons in power use force to punish those who break the rules. It also occurs when those in power use force or manipulation to get their own needs met by other family members.

Random-type families are in many respects the opposite of the closed-types. No particular persons are clearly in charge and so there are many conflicts over who will have the upper hand. Many of the needs of family members go unmet because no one takes consistent responsibility for meeting them. Feelings are expressed without restraint. Abuse occurs when family members lose their tempers or when they compete for power. Physical strength is often the deciding factor in struggles for power.

Next week we'll look at some specific factors that seem to contribute to abuse. For more information on this or the Elk Point Support Group call Peggy at 724-2380 or Terri at 724-3800.

DOES YOUR GROUP NEED OFFICE SUPPLIES?

As a result of downsizing their Calgary office, Norcen Energy has surplus office supplies to distribute to non-profit organizations (ie. staplers, 3-hole punches, filing trays, paper holders, etc.). Now is the time to make you Christmas "wish list" and forward it to Cindy Casper (724-3359) before November 30. Cindy will forward the information to the Calgary office to determine whether or not they have the surplus items on hand.

Special thanks to Norcen for their generosity in supporting our local organizations and to Cindy for her time and effort. It's appreciated!

24 HOURS ON THE GAMBLING HELP LINE

The poster reads "When it's no longer a game... Problem Gambling. Call 1-800-665-9676."

Perhaps the message touches something that's been on your mind for some time. Or maybe someone close to you has a gambling problem. So you make the call.

"Hello," you hear, "Gambling Help Line." The voice is calm, friendly, inviting. And you begin to tell your story.

You are speaking to Fran

(not her real name), one of the nearly 100 volunteers who answer calls. The Gambling Help Line is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, province-wide. It operates out of the Distress Centre / Drug Centre in Calgary and has been in operation since June 1994. The Centre has run a general Distress Line since 1975.

Fran has worked at the Centre for more than a year. She typically works four evenings a month, usually about 6-8 hours a week. The rest of the time, she stays busy working at a full time job and raising two teenaged sons.

Volunteers like Fran come from diverse backgrounds. They include students, professional people, homemakers. A few are retired.

Their average age is 30-35. About two thirds are women. All are well trained and committed to what they do.

To work at the Distress Centre, a volunteer must first pass a rigorous interview and screening process. According to Dorothy Davis, Volunteer Coordinator at the Centre, volunteer selection is based on several factors. Those chosen need to be at a stable point in their lives. They must have the ability to connect with people in a way that gives callers confidence to carry on and seek further help. Above all, volunteers need to be good listeners, able to be non-judgemental and avoid giving advice. Ms Davis emphasizes, "our role is to listen, to give information and provide referral, options. Certainly not to tell people what to do. We believe strongly that, with the right information and support, people can sort it out for themselves."

After screening is complete, those volunteers who are considered appropriate then go through 30 hours of classroom instruction and 24 hours of on-the-phone training. Specific information on gambling is included. Volunteers are given basic facts about gambling and how to help people with gambling issues. They also learn how and when to make referrals to AADAC or AADAC-funded agencies for counselling, and to support groups such as Gamblers Anonymous or GamAnon (for family and friends of problem gamblers). A social worker is always available to provide supervision and support for the volunteers.

Over the three-month period between July 1 and September 30, 1995, there were 672 calls made to the Gambling Help Line.

Next week we'll look at the types of calls made, the role of the Gambling Hot Line, and increased awareness of problem gambling. If you are concerned about your own or someone else's gambling, call 1-800-665-9676 or the St. Paul AADAC office at 645-3646.

View Points

A day to respect children and encourage tolerance

The United Nations has proclaimed 1995 the International Year for Tolerance. Tolerance means accepting others, appreciating their differences, and being open to diversity and everything it offers.

On National Child Day this November 20, let's think about how we can help children feel appreciated for who they are and what they bring to us. When children are accepted for their uniqueness and differences, they learn to contribute to society and to respect the rights of others.

Adults can teach tolerance to children by emphasizing that people are unique and naturally different from one another. They can also see to it that all children have the same opportunities to learn, to experience, to share, and to grow to their full potential. We can't close our eyes to intolerance. We must act to eliminate it - for our sake and the sake of our children.

Letter to the Editor

Keep ECS off the chopping block

To the Editor:

Our local school board will soon be making a crucial decision. ECS (kindergarten) may again end up on the chopping block.

The current program of 400 hours (240 provincially funded, 160 locally funded) may be in jeopardy. Because the provincial government is only paying for 240 hours (approx. 1 1/4 days a week), our local board of school trustees may decide they cannot afford the other costs associated with a 400 hour program. Next year there may be only a 240 hour program for our local ECS classes.

As a parent with small children, this possible reduction is a concern to me, as it is to anyone else with children going into kindergarten in the coming years. But it is not our concern alone.

Although the cost of kindergarten can easily be cut in favor of programs for older children, it seems to me we're forgetting something.

Educating children is expensive. It will always be expensive, and kindergarten is just a small part of the cost. However, studies done in Canada have proved that kindergarten reduces the long term costs of educating children.

Why would we try to jeopardize one of the programs that REDUCES the cost of education?

Please join with me and write your local school board and the provincial minister, Halvar Johnson, to let them know how you feel about kindergarten. If anyone needs sample letters or addresses, contact me at 724-4491.

We must act before the new year, while our opinions can make a difference. Act now.

Sincerely,
Juanita Buck

Credit rating key to personal finances

By Avco Financial Services

Most people have heard of money management but are unfamiliar with credit management. The use of credit is skyrocketing making credit management just as important to understand as money management.

Establishing a credit history is key for everyone. You can do this by having a credit card in your personal name. Some women have their name on their husband's credit cards. While it may be convenient to have a "spouses" card, it does not build a credit record for the woman.

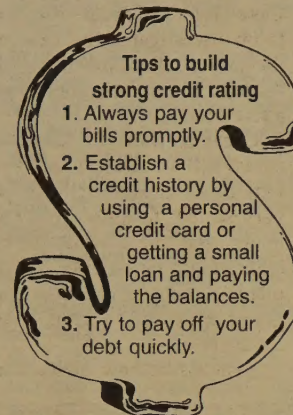

Val Panchuk, District Manager, Avco Financial Services, says, "A credit record is essential to show that you can manage your money responsibly and have a proven track record of making payments regularly. It often is a prerequisite to getting a loan."

One way to establish a credit rating is to apply for a credit card, use it regularly and make your monthly payments. It's crucial to make your payments when they are due, not a day or week after the due date. If you have a reason for being late with your payment, let the company know. Another way credit card companies provide the credit bureau with accurate information on how the credit customers pay their bills. Your payment history with credit grantors and "public record" (bankruptcies, judgements) information is used by credit grantors to help them to decide whether to extend credit to you.

Your credit history is available to companies who want to research your credit risk and establish your credit worthiness. It is also available for you to review on request. Panchuk adds, "Often people only understand the importance of credit history after they have been turned down for loans. Then they demand to learn about their credit history and begin to understand the need for paying bills on time." Your record is continuously updated and goes back six years. If you are interested in developing your credit rating or learning more about credit management, visit a financial services company that demonstrates a strong willingness to work with you in helping you with your financial challenges.

to establish credit history is to apply for a small loan and pay it off promptly.

Doug Littlejohn, Consumer Relations, Toronto of Equifax Canada says, "Your history of making payments is recorded through credit bureaus who act as a clearing house for credit information. Credit grantors such as stores, banks, financial service and

Registered Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Excess sodium in your diet may be associated with hypertension and edema. Hypertension or high blood pressure occurs when the pressure the blood exerts on the arteries becomes too high. Edema is a condition in which the body retains too much fluid and tissues swell abnormally.

Where does all the sodium come from?

Sodium from the salt shaker is our number one source. Processed foods account for one third of the sodium we consume. Some sodium occurs naturally in food and water.

What can you do to reduce your sodium intake?

Choose fresh, frozen or canned vegetables without salt added. Read labels carefully, as ingredients are listed in descending order by weight, watch for words such as salt, sodium or soda. Buy low-sodium products if available (eg. salt reduced crackers, soups, etc.). Avoid adding salt to cooking water and eliminate salt in recipes. Ask your pharmacist if any of the medications you are taking (including antacids, laxatives, ASA, cough medicine) are high in sodium. Order carefully when eating out to limit intake of high sodium foods.

Use of salt substitutes is not advisable without a doctor's recommendation. Many salt substitutes contain large amounts of potassium chloride, which can be hazardous for some people. Spice mixtures that do not contain sodium or salt are okay to use.

Harassment a growing problem

By Fiona Daniels

Heinsburg Student Journalist

Recently I saw a documentary on the Fifth Estate about how sexual harassment among students is a growing problem in Canadian schools. Until I watched this program I thought that all the name calling and sexual comments were normal, and was unaware of how big this problem really is.

Of course, all of the name calling and comments are not meant seriously, but a lot of them are taken that way. On the other hand, some of the harassment is made in a serious way, and that is where the problems begin.

Sexual harassment can be anything from getting called names, to being touched or grabbed in a way that you don't feel comfortable with. In whatever way you are harassed, it is wrong, and is possibly one of the worst feelings a girl will ever experience.

A possible reason for boys in high school to do this and think that it is acceptable may be that since they were young they have been given the idea that it is okay to put women down. Some guys may be insulting a girl without even noticing what they've done.

To stop, or at least lessen this problem, we could educate young men from the time they are in elementary school to treat women with equality and respect.

Winter snows arrive at Elk Point Library

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

Winter has arrived at the Elk Point Library with the creation of paper snowflakes to decorate the bulletin board and the windows. Thanks go out to the kids of storytime who provided the blizzard for the windows.

Boxes and boxes of books have arrived at the library recently. Here are a few juvenile titles:

Last week fans of the comic strip Calvin and Hobbes were saddened to learn that Bill Watterson has decided to retire Calvin and his fuzzy sidekick. The library has a cure for the Calvin blues with Homicidal Psycho Jungle Cat, a collection of Calvin and Hobbes strips.

Jacob Two-Two is back in Jacob Two-Two's First Spy Case by Mordecai Richler. Jacob investigates the case of the yucky school lunches with the help of a new neighbor and a few friends.

Great Newspaper Crafts is chock-full of craft ideas for kids of all ages, ranging from very simple to quite involved using that most common of craft items, newspaper. Color pictures and easy to follow diagrams make this a craft book for everyone.

Also a few new arrivals in our juvenile series:

Jessica pretends to be a college student in order to date a college guy and Elizabeth is given the opportunity to attend college classes in Jessica's Older Guy from Sweet Valley High.

A class trip by ferry to a Pacific island results in adventure when Elizabeth and Jessica discover that their teacher has been left behind and the boat is in the hands of thieves in Deadly Voyage from Sweet Valley Twins.

Karen's Thanksgiving is not turning out as she had expected in Karen's Turkey Day from Baby-Sitter's Little Sister.

Claudia's class writes a slightly non-traditional Thanksgiving play and some parents want to prevent them from staging it in Claudia and the First Thanksgiving from The Baby-Sitters Club.

The Pee Wee Scouts are all excited about participating in the Harvest Fest in Teeny Weeny Zucchini from the Pee Wee Scouts.

Young Wolf's father thinks he is too young to go on the buffalo hunt but Young Wolf has other ideas in Young Wolf's First Hunt, a Step Into Reading book.

In Memoriam

DAHMER, John R.

In memory of John R. Dahmer, beloved husband, father and friend, who passed away on November 26, 1988.

Forever remembered and sadly missed by his family and friends.

Thank You

The family of Bruce Smith would like to extend a very special THANK YOU to all the Elk Point school's students and staff, the Poundmaker's clients and staff, the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club members and families, friends, neighbors and community people who shared our sorrow and helped make this time a little easier to deal with. Also thank you to Rev. Sam Donaldson, Yewchin's Funeral Chapel, the Elk Point Ambulance Service, Dr. D. Ramful, the Danyluk family, and Proski family for their special and prompt help.

Words on paper just aren't enough to express the heartfelt thanks and appreciation of all the things that were done for us during this grave time.

Allen, Lucille, Dan, Maria & family; Allan; Shelly & Wade; Shane & Jolene; Don, Nellie & family; Gwen, Tyler & family; Darlene, Buddy & family, and Hazel.

ASK ST. CLARE for three favors, one business, two impossible. Say nine Hail Marys for nine days, with a lighted candle. Pray whether you believe it or not, publish on the ninth day. May The Sacred Heart of Jesus be praised, adored, glorified and loved today and every day throughout the world forever and ever. Amen. Your request will be granted no matter how impossible it may seem. (Publication must be promised.) Thanks L.L.

TEACHERS JUST WANNA HAVE FUN! And they do, courtesy of Christian musician Michael Hart, who visited FGM recently.

Hart in concert at FGM

By Kelly Oszust

F. G. Miller Student Journalist

On Thursday, November 9 the Christian musician Michael Hart gave a captivating presentation in the F. G. Miller gymnasium.

Michael Hart has been a professional musician for fifteen years. He also has a background in teaching. So far, he has three albums released, his latest one being "The Heart of the Matter." Each year he leaves his two children and his wife to go on a two month tour throughout Canada. Before the performance began, a compact disc, a tape and an autographed poster were given to students who recently had a birthday; the lucky three were Matt Nixon, Bernie Kulczycki and Glen Kulczycki.

The first number Michael sang was dedicated to the one thousand kids on the streets in Vancouver, it was titled "Run From the Darkness." Next he decided to liven things up by inviting six male students and six female students to play instruments on stage. The highlight of the whole performance was when he made all the teachers join him on stage and do a number of hilarious dances while he sang.

Michael ended the concert on a very serious note. He discussed youth violence. There have been twelve murders this year done by teenagers in Vancouver. He also spoke about the changes in the Young Offenders Act. His sincere message reached a lot of people and made the students more aware of what's happening in the world today.

FGM book fair this week

Once again this year, F. G.

Miller is having a book fair and craft sale. The book fair runs from November 20 to 24, 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. daily in Lab 12. It is a Scholastic book fair. The majority of the books range from kindergarten to Grade 8, however there is a smaller selection of books for senior high students and adults. Posters, bookmarks, pencils, coloring books, activity books and erasers will be sold as well.

well.

The remaining books for the book fair will be sold at the Craft Sale which will be on Saturday, November 25 in the F. G. Miller gymnasium. There will be a number of crafts for sale as well as food and other items. Ms Smereka would like to thank the yearbook staff for all their help. All proceeds from the book fair will go to the F. G. Miller library and to the yearbook.

Hello, everyone, from Frog Lake School

By Kim Singer

Frog Lake Student Journalist

A lot has been happening here at the Frog Lake School. The brainstorming, ever exhausting exam week has just wrapped up for the Junior / Senior high school quarterly report card. Speaking of high school, the Senior Boys volleyball team captured second at the District Playoffs on Saturday, November 10 at Saddle Lake advancing them to Zones. On behalf of the staff and students, we would like to congratulate the team on a job well done!

Last Thursday, November 9, a Remembrance Day ceremony was held to honor the veterans.

All elementary classes participated in the event showing off their talents. Mr. Purdy was Master of Ceremonies. The principal, Mr. Wilson, shared some of his experiences growing up as a child during the Second World War. A beautiful poem read by Grade Six teacher Ruth Purdy entitled "Why Wear a Poppy" enriched the event greatly. The ceremony ended with an honor song by the school's drum group, led by Dallas Waskahat.

Thunder rolls on with two more wins

Friday night, local boy Ben Poulin and the Mallaig Monarchs visited the Midget Thunder in a very well attended game which saw the Thunder come out on top, with the score 8 to 5 at the end of 3.

Early in the first period, young Jordan Bassett opened the scoring when veteran defenceman Jeff Hughes set him up in front of Poulin. The Monarchs soon tied the game on the power play with 2 Thunder players in the sin bin. Fortunately for the Thunder, the first period closed with the score 3 - 2 for Elk Point.

The second period saw Thunder come out playing better and pulling ahead 5 - 3, until a bad bounce off the glass gave the Monarchs a late goal to make it 5 - 4 after 40 minutes. Don Woytkiw had the lucky program number for the shoot-to-win contest during the second intermission but was unable to collect the $210.

The game opened up in the third when right winger Jordan Bassett received a beautiful pass from James Babenek sending him in all alone on Poulin. Bassett added another in the third giving him the hat trick for the night, not bad for the Bantam aged player. Other singles were scored by Loren Kozicky, Chris Berlinguette, Marty Bendixen and Jeff Hughes, who also assisted on 3 giving him 4 points for the night. Ben Poulin, also a Bantam aged player, played a very good game against his former Provincial championship teammates who tested him with 54 shots on goal.

Grey Cup Sunday, the Vegreville Warriors blew into town for a one-sided contest. A close first period saw the only scoring by team captain Kristen Holthe. The ice was still drying in the second when things changed and speedy Rene deMoissac charged the net and deflected a nice pass from Clayton Cardinal, then the Gazoo scored his second on the same shift, this time the pass coming from right winger Chris Berlinguette. After that there was no stopping the Thunder, with the final tally 13 - 0 in favor of Elk Point.

The next home game is Friday, November 24 at 8 p.m. against Vermilion Tigers, one of the top teams in the league. Be sure to come out and cheer on your home town team in what is sure to be a tough battle. Also, come out on Sunday for some fun and watch the Elk Point Minor Hockey coaches take on the CFCW Country Critters at 2 p.m.

Off-ice, the Midgets have been busy raising money by installing Christmas lights and still have some perogies left from their successful sale at the Royal Purple's Craft Sale. Pick up your supply at Northbound 41 (Sears) and support the team!

The Critters are coming!

Elk Point hockey fans have something different and exciting to look forward to this weekend, when the CFCW Country Critters take on the Minor Hockey coaches in a 2 p.m. contest on Sunday, November 26 (not November 25 as stated in last week's caption - sorry!).

The "star" of the show is CFCW's big furry "Critic" mascot, who is sure to be a hit with the youngsters in attendance.

All proceeds from the game will go to Minor Hockey.

Curling Club news

Elk Point Curling Club held elections for their new executive at their November 1 meeting. Leonard Gadowski was elected President for the coming year, with Steve Penz as Past President, Judi Babcock as Secretary Treasurer, and Glenn Flanders, Doug Rutherford, Curtis Porcina, Carol Ellison and Craig Lee as directors.

Results from the first week of league curling are as follows:

MEN'S: Dan Povaschuk won over Leonard Gadowski, Steve Penz over Curtis Porcina, Don Anderson over Dave Yake.

MIXED: Murray Babcock won over Monique Penz, Steve Penz over Art Britton, Greg Desaulniers over Ted Yarmuch, tie between Joanne Derewynka and Elk Point Lioness.

EARLY BIRD DRAW WINNER - Viola Yarmuch was congratulated by Brian Schnurer of the Elk Point Ag Society's Fairgrounds and Livestock Division when she won the Early Bird Draw for a trip to the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas. Tickets are still available for the big draw on Boxing Day for the grand prize of 12 bred heifers or $13,200 in cash, plus four draws for $150 consolation prizes. Last year's winner found his lucky ticket in his Christmas stocking, which shows that this is a really great gift idea. Tickets are available from members or at various locations around Elk Point.
